

Reminder - GPO Seeks Comments on ConOps for N&O Automated Tool

A concept of operations describes the current and desired characteristics of an automated tool to be used for the disposition of materials in Federal depository libraries. It is a means to communicate concepts to users, stakeholders, and developers. The ConOps does not contain specific features; these will come later in the requirements document.

The Automated Tool for Disposition of Materials in FDLs will comprise the technology and business practices necessary to enable Regional depository libraries to manage the disposition process in their states, as well as streamlining the disposition process for Regional and selective depositories alike.
